The First Kiss.

Dear, do you mind you of that glorious night,
Star-sown, in June, when we beneath the trees—
Far from the city's din—a gentle breeze
Cheering the silence—sat in long delight Near, near together? You were all in white,
Carnations in your hair; a bunch of these Scarlet and fragrant lay upon your knees:
Sheer joy thrilled in our hearts and filled them quite.

No wonder that our spirits, those sweet hours
Grew closer in communion, came to feel How much without each other they should miss!
So, at the parting, as you gave the flowers,
Few words were spoken, but as if to seal Vow unexpressed you gave me that first kiss.

— Carlo Benedetto.

FORBEARANCE is its own reward!

SOME failures are the best of fortunes!

COLD feet seldom run a successful race!

He does most who does his stunt quickly!

QUESTION of the hour—planted that turnip patch?

THE "little" soul is apt to be much "puffed up"!

It is the dreamer's misfortune to be misunderstood!

THE philosopher sighs that he might make others smile!

SUPERSTITION is the homage we pay to a besighted ancestry!

NOISE and bluster are some people's substitute for sense!

HE is the worst of thieves who robs us of pleasant thoughts!

THE man who fears not to go alone will not lack for followers!

HE catches on to the car or success who grasps opportunity!

CHEERFULNESS is the most valuable of business and social assets!

It can be said to the donkey's credit that he never brays a false note!

THAT preaching rises the highest that comes from deepest down in the heart!

ALEXANDER sighed for more worlds to conquer—and succumbed to his own vanity!

NEVER mind the drouth, Sammy; you'll reap the usual crop just the same from the wild oats you are sowing!

GOD'S kingdom was never coax'd to come by loud calling—but "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven"!

THE man who makes the best of his opportunities for doing good is laying up the richest of treasures where moth and rust doth not corrupt!

No doubt but what Joe Boehmer's four weeks' experience as a legislator—by the grace of the prohibitionists—has taught him that there are some things that are worse than being a country editor.

With the advent of fall rains, the planting of fall and winter crops will engage the attention of the up-to-date farmer. There is almost always some crop that farmers in this section can have growing, and the fall and winter pasture is quite an item in the economy of farm operations. An oat field for the stock to graze on or a turnip patch to furnish green feed to the cows occasionally will be found to help a great deal, and both are possible with only a little rain if planted at the proper time.

CUERO has her A. J. Graves Co., Devine her Adams Co., El Campo her B. K. T aylor, Floresville her John Griffith Co., Hondo her Schmitt & Steinhardt, and other towns, smaller than any of these mentioned, have their firms who advertise regularly and take from a page to two pages a week in their local paper, but nary a page ad from a home merchant has the Picayune carried in more than a year. We know the rates charged and the circulation of these papers, in most instances, and they are no cheaper in price or greater in circulation than our own. Then—what is the cause of it all? If the merchants are getting all the business they want and can attend to, they can hardly be blamed, but it isn't that. Some day an advertiser will locate here, and, as in the days of 1900, when the Banner Dry Goods Co. opened up and placed a big ad with us two weeks in advance of the opening, the Picayune will have more business than it can attend to. But we would rather this would not be—much more had we rather see a home merchant—one who has been here these long years, through good seasons and bad, do the advertising and reap the benefit, and keep out fly-by-night fellows who locate for a brief period and who are induced to come here through the non-advertising methods of the merchants, as much as any other one thing.—Beeville Picayune.

The long prevailing drouth was at last broken Tuesday morning a fine rain amounting to 3 inches and lasting six or seven hours fell and filled water holes and tanks to overflowing and also putting a good season in the ground.
With another rain in the near future chances are good for winter pasturage.
Anyway, stockmen and farmers are jubilant.

wise.—Emerson.

D'Hanis Woman Hurt in Run-away.

D'Hanis, Tex., Sept. 4.—While Mrs.
John Enderle, on her return from church on Sunday, was driving through the Enderle pasture, she was overtaken by a neighbor's dog in full chase of a rabbit. The horse became frightened and ran. The dog gave up the chase of the rabbit and pursued the horse, which became unmanageable, overturned the buggy, throwing Mrs.
Enderle to the ground. Mrs. Enderle was painfully cut and bruised on face and head. The horse took the back track toward the church, completely wrecking the buggy.

A Great Advantage to Working Men

J. A. Maple, 125 S. 7th St., Steubenville, O., says: "For years I suffered from weak kidneys and a severe bladder trouble. I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about. My backache left me and to one of my business, expressman, that alone is a great advantage. My Kidneys acted free and normal, and that saved me a lot of misery. It is now a pleasure to work where it used to be a misery. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me and have my highest praise." Willmann & Martin.

Try it for a Day.

Do you begin the day saying thus?
"This day I will live as becomes a man. I will be filled with good cheer and courage. I will do what is right;
I will work for the highest; I will put soul into every handgrasp, every smile, every expression—into all my work. I will live to satisfy my other self." You think it is easy. Try it for a day.—Elbert Hubbard.

Spirit of Sympathy.

Beware of that bane of social life, evil speaking. Seek for the spirit of love which is the spirit of truth—for you can never know anyone without sympathy or love—and take care how to speak of those who have not yet learned to love. Never talk of other's faults without necessity and avoid those who do.—Ruskin.

HERBINE
For the Bowels
A Cure for Chronic Constipation, Torpid Liver and Irregular Bowel Movements.

Constipation is the most common disorder of the bowels. It affects both sexes and all ages but is more prevalent among women because their duties in the household require less physical exercise than the occupations of men; therefore women suffer most from its baneful effect.

A constipated person is an easy victim when exposed to any serious disease—Pneumonia, Typhoid Fever, Malaria, Rheumatism, Small Pox, Yellow Fever and Bright's Disease gather their annual harvest of death among those who are habitually constipated. Even though they escape these diseases, such persons are always ailing more or less. They have headaches, bad digestion, dizziness, vertigo (blind staggers), sallow complexion, flatulence, loss of strength, and no energy at all. Herbine has a most admirable effect in the bowels; it is cooling, purifying and regulating. It puts a prompt check on biliousness, wind in the bowels, nervousness, heartburn, bad breath, low spirits, drowsiness in the day-time and nervous wakefulness at night.

Price 50c per Bottle.

MINE be a cot beside the hill
A beehive's hum shall soothe my ear
A willow brook that turns a mill
With many a fall shall linger near.
The swallow oft beneath my thatch
Shall twitter from her clay built nest.
Oft shall the pilgrim lift the latch
And share my meal, a welcome guest.
Around my ivied porch shall spring
Each fragrant flower that drinks the dew.
And Lucy at her wheel shall sing
In russet gown and apron blue.
The village church among the trees,
Where first our marriage vows were given,
With merry peals shall swell the breeze
And point with taper spire to heaven.

QUESTION of the hour - stud'in' Latin?

HE deceives himself most who thinks to profit by deceiving others with lies!

GET ready for the grand carnival and jubilee by getting the carnival spirit into your bones.

You will confer a double favor by telling our advertisers that you saw their advertisement in this paper.

THE Anvil Herald nominates Hon. John N. Garner for United States Senator to succeed Senator J. W. Bailey.

WITH Jake Wolters leading one faction and Tom Ball the other in an effort to land the senatorial toga, we shall cheerfully and enthusiastically support—Hon. John N. Garner!

THE death of Ex-Senator R. Q. Mills removes one of Texas' Grand Old Men. Too noble and high-minded to bend to the popular whim, he suffered political martyrdom at the hands of a people that revere him for his unsullied honor.

THE action of Senator Bailey in announcing that he will not be a candidate for re-election next year is the most commendable act of his public life. And this is said in no spirit of levity. By his withdrawal, he spares his state a bitter, strife-begetting campaign and greatly simplifies an otherwise tangled political situation.

To have a High School high school branches must be taught. Grammar school branches should be taught in the grammar school, and when mastered there the pupil is ready for advancement to the high school branches. The teacher must be allowed considerable latitude in directing the course of study for the child, for if left too much to the selection of the child too many would elect to pursue only the easy branches and the prime purpose of education—the developing of a well balanced mentality in the child—will be lost.

A PRIVATE letter from a business man of Memphis, Tennessee contains the information that that city has nearly a thousand saloons that operate in open violation of the statewide prohibition laws of Tennessee and without paying a cent of taxes to the support of the city, county or state government. This same informant is carried over a great portion of the state of Mississippi by the requirements of his business and it is his opinion that there are more blind tigers in that state than there were legal saloons before statewide prohibition was adopted there. Our good but misguided friends who really thought statewide would be a good thing for Texas ought to thank their God that our state escaped such conditions as these.

It is perfectly natural for one who has to travel over a road to complain if the road is bad. But it is well to look for the real cause of the roads being bad. Under our present system, the roads are kept in repair by the overseers calling out the people residing along the road and working it. Farmers have been extremely busy trying to save their meagre cotton crop recently and the overseer that would have attempted to take the people away from this work to spend several days road-working would have pulled a hornets' nest down about his ears. As a consequence the roads are getting in a bad condition. When we abandon the antiquated method of keeping up our roads and maintain them by contract we will hear less about bad roads.

Mistakes in Paint

The usual way to buy paint is to take the lowest price by the gallon. Mistake; the buyer loses by it; how much? Depends on the paint; it is so much a gallon, or so much a year. How much a gallon or year, do you think? As much perhaps, as the total price of the paint. It may take twice the number of gallons.

N. Avery, Delhi, N. Y., owns two houses, both exactly alike. He painted one with Devco and one with another paint. Devco 6 gallons; the other 12.

Go by the name: Devco. There's nothing cheaper. Go by the price; there's nothing dearer, except not painting at all. Poor paint is better than none.

What does it cost not to paint at all? Can't figure it out exactly; say a tenth of the building a year, besides looks.

What is poor paint worth, then? Don't know and don't care; you don't want it. Go by the name. 20 Holloway Bros.

Sheriff Joe Bader assisted in an important arrest at the damsite last Friday afternoon. Sheriff J. W. Hood of Campbell County, Tennessee, came out here, and with the assistance of Mr. Carson at the damsite, they arrested a man by the name of George Edward Hollingsworth who was wanted in that state for embezzling $4000 from the estate of some orphans for whom he was administrator fifteen years ago. The man came to the damsite from Colorado in February and had been there since that time. The prisoner was brought to town and Sheriff Hood left at once for Tennessee with him. On the return to town from the dam in an auto, a horse attached to a wagon which they met in the road became unmanageable and Mr. Hood got out of the auto and tried to lead the frightened animal by the car. He was jerked down and the horse stepped on his head and came very near running the wagon over him. Fortunately the wounds were not serious, however, and he was able to proceed on his journey.

New Fountain Notes.
BY NARRATOR.
ED. ANVIL HERALD:—
A confirmation of nine boys and seven girls took place in the New Fountain Methodist Church last Sunday morning. I shall not attempt to mention the names of those that were confirmed, as I failed to ascertain the name of all. Prof. J. B. Vordenbaumen, one of Ed. Oefinger's school companions, paid him a visit for a few days last week, before he returned to Knippa where he will teach the coming session.
Emil Auck, a chauffer of San Antonio, who is having his vacation and spending it with homefolks at Dunlay, was over last Sunday in company with Robert Breiten and spent the day with L. A. Gerdes.

Otto Neumann of Indian Spring, stopped over one night last week while on his way home from Hondo.
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Senne were visiting relatives in the Leinweber Settlement last Saturday and Sunday.
Mr. Theo. Balzen's residence, smokehouse and its contents burned to the ground right after midnight last Friday morning, except some furniture, bedding and clothing that was saved from the burning building. The total loss is estimated to be about $2,000.

Mr. Balzen has been nursing a swollen and painful foot for the past several weeks, and which prevented his assistance in saving the household goods from the burning building that was consumed by fire at an early hour last Friday morning, while George is compelled to remain indoors as he had his face painfully burned by the heat while trying to save the household goods. WOMEN OF SOUTHERN AFRICA

Generally Very Highly Domesticated and Capable of Handling Household Affairs Cleverly.
The South African woman is generally very highly domesticated; she is not only capable of managing her native servants very cleverly, but she is able to cook well, make jam and pickles, look after poultry, attend to the garden and make her own dresses and those of her children.
The social life in all South African towns is a strong feature, dancing is a favorite amusement and holiday picnics on river banks are general. Women play tennis, croquet and golf and do a good deal of cycling. Life in South Africa ranges from old established culture and luxury, with every surrounding convenience and taste, to the loneliness of the veldt farm, and to this life and her husband's interests, the English born girl soon adapts herself if she is at all adaptable. She can be healthy, happy and free and usually fairly prosperous, with more money to spend than she would have in a similar position at home.—Empire Magazine.

ARTIFICIAL LACE IN FRANCE
Mechanism and Chemistry Furnish Product That Wears Better Than Real Article.
Mechanism and chemistry combined have furnished France with a new produce—artificial lace. The general public has heard little about it, but the lace manufacturers of Lyons, Calais and Caudey have for some time past been much perturbed over this unexpected competition to which they will have to submit.
Artificial lace is in effect a manufacture of a very simple nature. There is no weaving employed in its production. The machine consists in its essential parts of a receptacle containing a cupro-ammoniacal solution of cellulose, a metallic cylinder upon which is engraved the negative of the design and a coagulation vat.
A rotatory motion is given to the cylinder, over which flows the solution which, entering the interstices of the engraved pattern, fixes itself immediately in the coagulative liquid, out of which emerges the texture ready to be dyed and dressed.
Artificial lace has a beautiful appearance. It is homogeneous and unalterable; will wear better and is less combustible than ordinary lace. Water does not affect it. Any desired pattern can be obtained by engraving a new cylinder.

The case was finally discovered in an ally. It had been thoroughly ransacked, but the burglar was evidently looking for money or jewelry and did not take any of the valuable ladie's garments which the case contained.

Messdames Curry and Eversole.

It is hard to find a remedy suited to the ills of children, yet Mrs. Curry of Trowbridge, Ill., and Mrs. Eversole of Hindsboro, Ill., claim to have found it, and they are naturally anxious to let the rest of the world know. They say this remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great laxative, tonic and regulator. It is one of the few remedies useful to children that does not contain narcotics. It will do all that is claimed, and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Illinois. It is sold by all dealers at 50c and $1 a bottle.

Character in Hand Shake.

Bulwer thinks a man's nature is shown by the way he shakes hands; that he may have the manners of Chesterfield, and smile very sweetly, but yet may chill or steel your heart against him the moment he shakes hands with you. But there is, he says, a cordial clasp which shows warmth of impulse, unhesitating truth, and even power of character—a clasp which recalls the classic trust in the "faith of the right hand."

Who Was There That You Knew?

In the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

5,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

They were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $50,000; they were buried there for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked over and lost for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to buy the collection—Ex-President Carfield and General Grant's P. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review of Reviews, the entire collection was reached at less than the value of one of the photographs. It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War you have heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

Further investigations made by Senator Watson in Texas showed that under county option there were 410 cases for violations of the liquor law in sixty-four counties with a total population of 993,744. In twenty-four of these counties in Texas, there is not a single case pending charging violations of the liquor laws. In "state-wide" Oklahoma there are only three such counties.

Texas is Better.

A further comparison between the figures of Texas counties and those of Oklahoma counties, shows that there are more than seven times as many cases charging violations of the statewide prohibition laws in Oklahoma than there are charges of a like character for violation of the local option laws in counties in Texas. In Texas there have been prosecutions on an average of one man to each 2,218 population for violations of the local option law.

The county clerk in Vinita, Oklahoma, replying to Senator Watson's request, said: "Prohibition has been an utter failure in this country. At least nine out of every ten cases are whisky cases. This court does not handle drunks, but there are plenty of them. There are 637 criminal cases pending."

APPEAL TO LEGISLATORS TO STRENGTHEN PROHIBITION LAWS

Augusta, Ga.—In a frantic effort to retain prohibition in Georgia, Dr. H. M. Dubose, of the Protestant Ministers' association, and Col. Henry S. Jones, representing the Law and Order league of Richmond county, have addressed letters to every member of the Georgia legislature urging that the near-beer license law be abolished. The letter says:

"So nearly absolute is the disregard of the state law against liquor selling that the power of the local police is no longer invoked against it, and juries have contemptuously refused to return verdicts against offenders where the evidence has been as plain as the sun in the sky. The money consideration paid by the near-beer vendor to both state and city has been made a cover for lawlessness, and for its part the city government has become an impotent witness of widespread disorder and law infraction."

TAKES THREE TODDIES A DAY AND HALE AT 105 YEARS.

Savannah, Ga.—Patrick Kinney, 105 years old, who lives on a farm near Douglas, Coffee county, is unable to recall the time in his life when he did not smoke and chew tobacco or use intoxicants.

Mr. Kinney says he only takes three toddies a day but smokes and chews whenever he feels like it. He is a vegetarian and declares that meat kills more people than it keeps alive. Mr. Kinney is physically in good condition and declares he has many more years to live. He thinks nothing of walking several miles a day.

The record in the King's county of Orange, Ireland, shows that Mr. Kinney was born on Easter Sunday, 1806. He came to Georgia in 1886 and has been a resident ever since. He served during the civil war in the federal navy.

KEEPING COOL.

Some fellows in a losing game Are worried, gruff and glum; But Roland Hill is just the same, No matter what may come.

He faces toward the pitcher's box And smiles a friendly smile, And then, the chances are, he knocks The ball about a mile.

He says, "We'll lick 'em if we try. Play up! You're doing fine!" And maybe that's the reason why He's captain of the nine.

Some fellows when they miss a shot In tennis grunt and frown, Or twist their faces in a knot And smash their rackets down.

And some are sure the court is bad Or rough; and some will say, "What rotten luck!" while some will add, "I'm off my game today."

But Roland simply plays ahead; He doesn't sulk, but grins; And that is why I've heard it said, He almost always wins. —Youth's Companion.

NO LATE INFORMATION.

Teacher (to new pupil)—Why did Hannibal cross the Alps, my little man?

New Pupil—Why, I didn't know he'd went, ma'am. When did he start?

On the Other Hand.

The GLADDEST words Are now and then Those selfsame words—"It might have been."

A Long-Standing Case.

"I got hold of a case of long standing this morning that put a $90 dent in my bank balance," said the doctor.

"Why, how was that?" queried his friend, the druggist.

"I bought one of those old 'grandfather clocks' at an auction sale," explained the M. D.

At the Beach.

Lawson—How gloomy the foghorn sounds! Doesn't it depress you?

Dawson—Not a bit. If you had been hearing your office boy whistle "The Old Gray Bonnet" eight hours a day, as I have, almost any noise would be a welcome change.

Way of the World.

Dubly—Of course every young man thinks he'd be perfectly happy if he could only have his own way.

Wise—Yes, and the older he grows the happier he is to think that he didn't have it.—Catholic Standard and Times.

Of Course.

"Why do you scorn that young man?"

"Because he talks only of love in a cottage."

"And he has the right idea. What you save on the house you can put into the automobile."

WORTH THAT MUCH.

"If you didn't think the show was worth seeing, why didn't you go out?"

"I should have if I hadn't got in free."

None Guilty.

"I wouldn't bleach my hair."

Exclaimed sweet Gladys Maud; And every bleached blonde there Proceeded to applaud.

A Mannish Maid.

Ethel—For dressing and acting mannishly isn't Kate the limit?

Alice—I should say she is. Why, whenever she meets an acquaintance in skirts she lifts her hat.

The Usual Way.

"Are you still keeping your New Year's resolutions?"

"In a way."

"What sort of a way?"

"I'm keeping 'em quiet."

Taking a Chance.

"A poet says, 'I swoon on the ramparts of love.'"

"That's a bad place to swoon. The girl's father might happen along in a mood to kick him off."

Proof Enough.

"Is she an esthetic girl?"

"You just ought to hear her say, 'I can't imagine how some people can be so vulgar.'"

TEXAS Needs Great Men

II. OPPORTUNITY.

A HILL at Toulon gave Napoleon his opportunity and he beat back the British forces and established a Republican form of government in Europe. An arm of the ocean gave Nelson his opportunity and he destroyed the Spanish fleet and made England mistress of the sea. Since the creation of the world, the destinies of the human race have been moulded by leaders who could seize upon opportunity. Texas today stands at the threshold of commercial supremacy, awaiting her leaders to seize upon opportunity that will give her the mastery of the world's commerce.

NAPOLEON'S OPPORTUNITY.

Opportunity is knocking at our door. The time for moulding the destinies of Texas has arrived. The completion of the Panama canal will re-cast the commerce of both hemispheres and move the star of civilization Texasward. The ocean is throbbing with commercial activity, the universe is quivering with industrial life and the time is ripe for the advent of a powerful man who can swing civilization around Texas like planets around a central sun. Texas needs great men.

Toby Koch was a business caller at this office Wednesday. Mr. Koch reports his crop turning out well and says he has some cotton that will make a quarter of a bale to the acre. A most remarkable thing about a part of his crop is that he will get a bale to a little less than six acres from cotton that has not had any rain on it since it was planted. This is a marked success of dry farming methods and should entitle Mr. Koch to life honorary membership in the Dry Farming Congress.

A Little Too Much.
That famous old time London character, Christopher Sykes, once conceived a sudden ambition to drive a mail phaeton in Hyde park.

Though he had no training, all went well till there came a crash near Hyde park corner.

When Sykes, unable to control his horses, sent his pole crashing through the back of a brougham.

He instantly tossed his reins to the groom.

"WHAT! YOU AGAIN?" ran to the door of the damaged carriage and apologized so gracefully and gallantly that the old lady within expressed her entire satisfaction.

Sykes, undaunted, sallied out again that afternoon. He soon got into another crush, however, and once more his pole pierced a brougham.

Again he ran to the brougham's door, and, hat in hand, again he began a voluble apology.

But an angry voice interrupted him.

"What! You again? No, sir; I'll never forgive you! Twice a day is too much."

For You.

Shall you complain who feed the world, Who clothe the world, who house the world—

Shall you complain who are the world Of what the world may do?

As from this hour you show your power, The world must follow you.

The world's life lies in your right hand, Your strong right hand, your skilled right hand—

You hold the whole world in your hand, See to it what you do!

Or dark or light or wrong or right, The world is made by you.

Then rise as you never rose before Or hoped before or dared before And show us what you were shown before

The power that lies in you, Unite as one, see justice done, Believe and dare and do.

—Charlotte Perkins Gilman.

Too Late.

A man was walking along the bank of a Scottish stream when he saw a fellow workman struggling in the water.

The man's face was familiar to him, and he stood there puzzling.

"Help me, ye lang fule," said the man in the water, "or I'll drown."

"What's yer name?" asked the man on the bank.

"Tammie Tammie," said the other.

"Ye're foreman of the pattern cutting bench?"

"Aye—guggie—guggie—mon," said the other, going under.

"Thee drown," said the man on the bank, walking away.

He went direct to the boss. "I want Tammie Tammie's job," said he. "He just drowned."

"Ye're too late, mon," said the superintendent. "I just gied the job to the man that pushed puir Tammie in."

The Man With the Voice.

Bill Roddy, press agent, stopped one evening at a hotel in a small western town and fell into a lengthy discussion with a big deep voiced man concerning the degree of science that can be attained in the noble game of draw poker.

The big man said it was the most scientific game on earth, and Roddy, having the weaker voice, finally agreed that it was.

"What business are you in?" asked the man with the deep voice.

"Circus business," replied Roddy.

"So am I," said the other. "I'm on the Chautauqua circuit."

Later in the evening Roddy asked the hotel clerk who the big man was.

"That," explained the clerk, "is Representative Champ Clark of Missouri."

Not Enough For the Money.

An Irish comedian whom we will just call Tom says he knows a New York restaurant keeper who is "so tight that he could climb a ladder holding an armful of eels and not one would get away."

Tom bases this complimentary estimate upon a recent commercial transaction in his acquaintance's restaurant. "I want tripe," said Tom when he went in, "good tripe, honeycomb tripe, with a vinegar sauce."

The waiter brought it. Tom ate it. By and by the servant brought his bill. Tom found that the tripe was charged as follows: "One half portion tripe, 90 cents."

"Call the proprietor," ordered Tom. "Somebody is trying to cheat me."

So the proprietor came and squinted down the line of figures and gravely announced to Tom that the computation was correct. "You had a half portion of tripe, sir," said the restaurant man. "The charge is quite right, sir. A full portion of tripe costs $1.80."

"By the green hills of Ireland," said Tom disgusted, "you couldn't load $1.80 worth of tripe in a cart."—Herbert Corey in Cincinnati Times-Star.

No More Calomel For Them

Persons Who Have Tried Dodson's Liver Tone Find It Safer Than Calomel and Just as Sure.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a vegetable substitute for calomel that starts the liver to work just as successfully as calomel does, and hundreds of persons have stopped using the powerful drug calomel to use Dodson's Liver Tone, mild vegetable liquid, instead. Calomel often shakes up the liver too much, and brings on bad after-effects and sometimes salivation—a terrible condition.

W. H. Windrow's drug store sells Dodson's Liver Tone at fifty cents per large bottle, and guarantees it to be harmless to both children and grown-ups. Remember this guarantee and try a bottle, next time your liver gets lazy.
